Many University of South Carolina students forget their Carolina Card, so creating a digital version with tap and Apple Wallet features would make campus access and payments more convenient and secure.